Ocean Mist Farms hires Tom Botelho

February 7, 2020

Ocean Mist Farms has hired Tom Botelho as a sales representative. In this role, Botelho will work closely with Sales Manager Joe Angelo to build Ocean Mist Farms business in key territories. He comes to the company with a proven sales track record and industry relationships that will be key in his and Ocean Mist Farms' success.

“We are glad to have someone of Tom’s caliber join our team,” said Angelo. “His extensive knowledge of sales within the agriculture industry makes him a vital addition to our team.”

Botelho joins Ocean Mist Farms with over 30 years of experience in the agricultural industry. As director of East Coast sales for Tanimura & Antle, Botelho encouraged customer loyalty, satisfaction and profitable growth among existing and target customers, and supported the sales and marketing efforts across all company products.

“I am happy to join the Ocean Mist Farms family and look forward to this new opportunity with a respected company,” said Botelho. “I’m pleased to have the opportunity to contribute to the continued success of Ocean Mist Farms.”
