Pandemic pushes Fruit Logistica back to April

The fourth wave of the COVID-19 pandemic is worsening the situation in many European countries. At the same time, the industry's wish to meet in person remains unwaveringly high. In light of these circumstances, Messe Berlin has decided to postpone Fruit Logistica to April 5-7, which it expects to be beyond the fourth wave.

"We are sticking firmly to our goal of meeting on-site again," said Director Kai Mangelberger. "We expect that the situation will begin to alleviate in February due to the precautionary measures being taken. The new dates make it possible to hold a Fruit Logistica that will pay off for our international guests and exhibitors. We look forward to hosting people from around the world once more under better circumstances."

With exhibitors from over 80 countries, Fruit Logistica will once again present the entire global value chain of the fresh fruit industry in April 2022.
