

---

- Advertisement -

Eagle Eye Produce shines grower spotlight on Dylan Jones

May 26, 2022

Eagle Eye Produce is dedicated to bringing the best products to its customers, and it said an integral part of that mission is to partner with the best growers.

The company's latest grower spotlight features Dylan Jones, a potato grower and farm manager at Eagle Eye Produce, in the thick of potato planting in eastern Idaho. Jones grew up in a small farming community in eastern Idaho and has been farming his entire life. In the video, Jones walks us through the planting process as well as how this season has been different with water concerns and inconsistent weather.

"Potato planting is a fun time of year for us," said Dallin Klingler, who handles marketing and communications. "It's great to get back in the field after a long winter. The weather, water concerns, and rising input costs means this year will be another unprecedented year for farmers throughout the country. We share concerns with the industry, but great growers like Dylan make us optimistic about the upcoming season.

"Eagle Eye Produce is happy to continue investing in projects like the Grower Spotlight series as we strive to shine a spotlight on the dedicated people behind our food and brands," said Klingler. "There are more Grower Spotlight videos to come this season as we prep for watermelon, onion and potato harvest, and we hope that this series will continue to bring value to our customers and the industry."

---

Print