Food Lion expands To Go services

September 28, 2022

With more shoppers opting to save time by ordering groceries online, Food Lion expanded its To Go grocery pick up service to 24 more stores in North Carolina and Kentucky, beginning Sept. 26. Food Lion is offering shoppers their first pickup for free. The launch of this service comes just in time to make fall and holiday shopping easier.

Customers can confirm availability and place orders through the Food Lion To Go website or the Food Lion To Go app. Shoppers can place an order, pick up their groceries on the same day and experience the same prices and fresh food items they have come to expect without leaving their car.

“Our customers have embraced the convenience of Food Lion to Go so we’re excited to expand this easier experience to even more customers so they can spend more time on what matters most to them,” said Evan Harding, director of digital and eCommerce for Food Lion. “We want to give our neighbors the option to shop through the channel they prefer, in-store or online, while still ensuring they have access to the freshest groceries at affordable prices.”

Food Lion continues to expand this new service across the towns and cities it serves, highlighting its commitment to make grocery shopping easy, fresh and affordable. With the addition of these 24 stores, Food Lion To Go is now available at more than 600 stores across its 10-state footprint.
