

- Advertisement -

IFPA Global Produce & Floral Show exceeds expectations

---

By

John Groh, publisher; Adam Campbell, digital publisher, Craig Levitt, managing editor; Marilena Osso, Eastern sales manager, and Kyle Eberth, Northwest editor

October 31, 2022

The "October" show was back and as good as ever. The International Fresh Produce Association hosted its inaugural Global Produce & Floral Show in Orlando, FL, Oct. 27-29, to rave reviews. The show floor was abuzz immediately upon opening and stayed busy throughout the two-day event.

"I am thrilled with the overwhelming support our first Global Produce & Floral Show received from across the supply chain this year," said IFPA CEO Cathy Burns. "This was a long-overdue return to gathering in October and it was made possible due to the leadership and support of our exhibitors, sponsors, volunteer leaders, and guests."

Print