

- Advertisement -

Windset Farms introduces Sonata Tropical Mini Peppers

March 16, 2023

Windset Farms has introduced its Sonata Tropical Mini Peppers, which it described as a tropical adventure bursting with flavor.

The newest addition to the Windset Farms family, Sonata Tropical Mini Peppers are a Tatayoyo mini pepper variety with a beautiful, deep orange color, adding brightness and warmth to any dish. With few seeds, and sized between a blocky and snack pepper, they are a welcomed addition to charcuterie boards and snack assortments or stuffed and roasted to perfection. Consumers will enjoy an initial sweet crunch, with notes of fresh herbs and fruit to finish. The company said Sonata Tropical Mini Peppers are a true showstopper.

With a distinct and strong flavor profile, it came as no surprise that Tatayoyo peppers were announced as this year's Innovation Winner at Fruit Logistica, a global trade show based in Berlin.

Windset Farms is bringing Tatayoyo to market under the brand name Sonata Tropical Mini Peppers. Retailers that value natural, enjoyable and healthy produce will be exhilarated by this new addition to the pepper category. To support the launch of Sonata Tropical Mini Peppers, Windset Farms will have merchandising opportunities for retailers, including eye-catching display bins and in-store sampling.

Tatayoyo's tropical flavor delivers an evolution to the traditional mini pepper eating experience, and consumers will have the chance to taste the tropical adventure firsthand. Look for Sonata Tropical Mini Peppers in stores this month.

Print