BOSTON—The New England Produce Council held its annual dinner dance gala Saturday, March 25 at the InterContinental Boston hotel. The event had a casino night theme, with games and decor setting the mood. A record number of attendees showed up early and packed the cocktail reception before the evening shifted to the ballroom for dinner and dancing — and a late-night snack station.

About Ryan Beckman |

Ryan Beckman was born and raised in New Jersey. After studying creative writing at Rutgers University, he attended SUNY Binghamton and earned his master's degree in English. The following year he and his wife, Amanda, journeyed to the province of Ontario to spend some time living in Toronto and cheering for the Maple Leafs. Ryan and Amanda now live in New York and spend their evenings staring at their ever-smiling son, Oscar.

Ryan is always looking for a good book to read, is sure to be a few hours behind on sleep and will never stop loving 8-bit games.
