ANAHEIM, CA -- As the curtain closed on what was considered a wildly successful IFPA Global Produce & Floral Show Oct. 19-21, here, JOH welcomed its valued clients and partners to keep the party going at a post-convention celebration the evening of Oct. 21 on the Tiffany Patio at the Sheraton Anaheim.

"The International Fresh Produce Association represents every part of the worldwide fresh produce and floral network, and our event following the Global Produce & Floral Show was the perfect chance to express our gratitude and provide an additional networking opportunity to our clients, customers and industry friends," said Brian Maguire, executive vice president at JOH. "A big thanks to IFPA for another amazing show and to all the attendees and sponsors of our reception. It was our one best yet!"
