Seasonal citrus varieties available from Bee Sweet

California's citrus season may be winding down, but Bee Sweet Citrus maintains a steady supply of Star Ruby grapefruit and Navel oranges to fuel spring citrus demand.

"Navel oranges are perfect for the season because they're incredibly sweet, easy to peel and portable," said Bee Sweet Citrus Director of Communications Monique Mueller. "They're loved by children and adults and complement healthy outdoor meals and snacks."

Since the start of spring, many families have been busy firing up the grill, hosting outdoor gatherings or planning vacations. Bee Sweet's varieties cater to a plethora of outdoor activities, making them a staple for every occasion.

"Our Star Ruby grapefruit is extremely juicy and sweet, and we'll have a great supply of bulk and bag options through the end of August," said Bee Sweet Citrus Sales Representative Sergio Rodriguez. "With summer holidays on the horizon, now would be an excellent time to promote our three- and five-pound bags."

Bee Sweet's Star Ruby grapefruit and Navel oranges are being harvested in the Central Valley (D1) and the company is expected to have volume through the end of the season. Both varieties are available in bag and bulk options and are packaged in high graphic packaging.
