January 9, 2025

The highly anticipated Organic Produce Summit has officially opened registration for qualified retailers. The leading organic and fresh produce event provides the freshest insights on organic produce and will take place July 9-10 in Monterey, CA.

Qualified retailers will receive complimentary registration and hotel stay, as well as the opportunity to join one of the many field tours showcasing North America's most innovative and progressive organic producers.

The ninth annual Organic Produce Summit hosts over 200 organic growers, shippers and processors showcasing innovative solutions and products in the organic and fresh produce market. The 2025 event will also feature keynote presentations and a curated educational program discussing up-and-coming trends, strategies and insights in the organic produce industry from a variety of experts.

"Retailers and buyers are extremely important to OPS because they play a key role in connecting fresh, healthy products from grower-shippers to consumers," said Keigan Roos, event manager for Organic Produce Summit. "We are looking forward to welcoming this audience back to OPS for another must-attend year to network and learn from one another to further grow the organic fresh produce business."

Retailer registration can be found at www.organicproducesummit.com. General attendee registration will open Feb. 4.
